Bhavna and Vishal Ajwani are bringing the first Lightbridge Academy to Fanwood this fall. According to the Scotch Plains Patch, the working parents struggled to find childcare for their two young sons and that experience is what led them towards opening a childcare center of their own.

“We did a lot of research and looked at a lot of different options before deciding to go with Lightbridge. The biggest part of our decision was that Lightbridge Academy was not just a day care but an educational childcare program,” Vishal told the Scotch Plains Patch. “It delivers the highest quality educational experience and in multiple areas of child development.”
